IT'S A LONG STEP

from the growing of the grain to the baking of the bread, but the intermediate necessity—the flour—is our specialty. Our household flour is milled from the choicest selected hard winter wheat, and contains all the most nutritious elements of the grain. It is not a white flour, but a natural product of the perfect wheat. Hence it makes the sweetest and purest bread.

DEATHS.

—Mr. T. D. Mitchell, one of the old and most prominent business men of Lexington, died Tuesday night at the Good Samaritan Hospital. Mr. Mitchell was ill a remarkably short time, having been at the store of Mitchell, Baker & Smith Monday morning.

—Mr. Mitchell arrived at his store Monday morning at the usual hour and remained there all of the forenoon, but at dinner time he complained of not feeling well, and said when he went to dinner that unless he felt better he would not return to the store in the afternoon. He continued to grow worse in the afternoon and was taken to the hospital where he died at ten o'clock Tuesday night.

He was a brother of Mrs. Georgia Keller and Miss Belle Mitchell, of this city.

—Louis Hooge, aged about 75 years, former well known jeweler of this city, died at his home at New Albany, Ind. He is survived by his second wife and three children.

—Wm. Young, aged about 35, died Monday night at his home in Winchester. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Etta Redmon Young. Both are widely related to Bourbon families.

The remains were brought to this city Wednesday afternoon and buried in Paris cemetery.

Given The Limit.

Several months ago Frazier White, colored, paid a visit to the Paris jail and asked to be allowed to see one of his friends that was in jail. Turnkey A. M. Kiser informed him that he could see his friend, but that he had to be searched before entering the jail, and when searched a pair of brass knuckles were found in his pocket. He was carrying a handful of onions to his friend and when the knuckles were pulled out of his pocket he threw the onions into Turnkey Kiser's face and broke and run. Kiser grabbed him, tearing his coat nearly off, but the negro made his escape, leaving his hat behind.

Jailer Geo. Judy caused a warrant to be issued for him at the time, and had been carrying that warrant in his pocket since last March. Mr. Judy never heard of him until he was informed Monday night that he was in one of the up-town saloons, when he walked in on him and served the warrant much to the negro's surprise.

He was taken before Judge Denis Dundon Tuesday and given the limit for carrying concealed weapons, $100 and thirty days in jail. It is believed White was endeavoring to smuggle the knuckles to his friend on the inside.

Rescued From Drowning.

Little Virginia Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cherry, of Ruddies Mills, while visiting at Mrs. Nannie Hall's near Kiserston was saved from drowning by Mrs. Beulah Hall, aged 15 years, a few days ago.

Miss Cherry, who is ten years of age, asked the privilege to go to the well and draw a bucket of water which Miss Hall declined to grant. Some time thereafter, Mack Mitchell, a little colored boy, came running almost breathless to the house saying that a little girl had fallen in the well. Miss Hall rushed to the well where she heard the cries of the little girl, who was now holding to the chain attached to an old bucket.

Miss Hall encouraged her to hold to the chain and rapidly turning the windlass brought her safely to the top. The well is 45 feet deep and contained 15 feet of water. The child, who did not seem the least bit frightened, had a deep gash on the side of her head which it was thought was caused by striking the bucket. The rescue of the child by one so young as Miss Hall, who is only five years her senior, is regarded as miraculous.

Assaults an Editor.

Phillip P. Johnston, Adjutant General of Kentucky, assaulted Denny Goode, editor of The Focus, a weekly publication, in his office at Louisville Tuesday afternoon. The Adjutant General struck Mr. Goode over the head with a heavy cane. He was afterward arrested on a warrant sworn out by Mr. Goode. The assault was the result of an article in The Focus at which General Johnston took offense.

LATER.

The case of Gen. P. P. Johnston, Adjutant General of the State Militia, charged with assaulting Denny B. Goode, editor of The Focus, was heard in the Louisville police court Wednesday morning and the defendant held over to the grand jury under bond of $100.

When the case was called objection was made to Marmaduke Bowden as the presiding judge. Bowden is acting police judge during the vacation of Judge Magee. "Roaring Bill" Sweeney was chosen to preside in the place of Judge Bowden.

The defendants asked that the charge be amended so as to make it a misdemeanor, but this motion was overruled. The court, however, changed the charge to assault and battery.

Prior to the hearing Gen. John B. Castleman as an intermediary for both Mr. Goode and Gen. Johnston endeavoring to bring about some adjustment of the matter without proceeding with a trial. He sought to induce the withdrawal of the prosecution. Mr. Goode consented to this on condition that Gen. Johnston apologize for his conduct. When this information was carried to Gen. Johnston he declined to consider any adjustment that would involve an apology and asked that the case take its course.
